

CONTENTS

Introduction. Post-war People’s Histories (Agnieszka Mrozik, Magda Szczęśniak) 3

Paweł Rodak, The Phenomenon of Writing About One’s Own Life. Diary Competitions in Poland in the 20th Century 9

Agnieszka Mrozik, “History Seems to Have Left Us Out”. On Post-war Competition Diaries and Contemporary Projects for Writing a People’s History of Poland 39

Agata Zborowska, To the Production Cooperative and Back Again. Ownership Transformations in Post-war Diary Narratives 71

Magda Szczęśniak, From Peasant to Farmer. Socialist Upward Mobility Stories in 1960s Polish Countryside 99

Marta Gospodarczyk, “Love Is in Bad Taste Today”. Diary no. 5340 from the Volume Upward Mobility in the City as a Warning to Socialist Girls 125

Marta Rakoczy, “Condemned to Comprehensive Self-Reliance”. Peasant Childhood and Inconspicuous Agency in Post-War Diaries. A New Childhood Studies Perspective 141

Małgorzata Tarnowska, “The Direction Called Modernity”. Socialist Modernisation in the Light of Peasant Diaries in the Volume This Land is Ours 163

Anna Wylegała, Competition Diaries and Contemporary Interviews as Complementary Sources for Investigating the Peasant Experience of Agricultural Reform 185

Łukasz Bertram, “He Knows Well and Does Not Forget the Soul of the Worker”. Personal Files of Political Activists and People’s History 213

Reviews and discussions 235